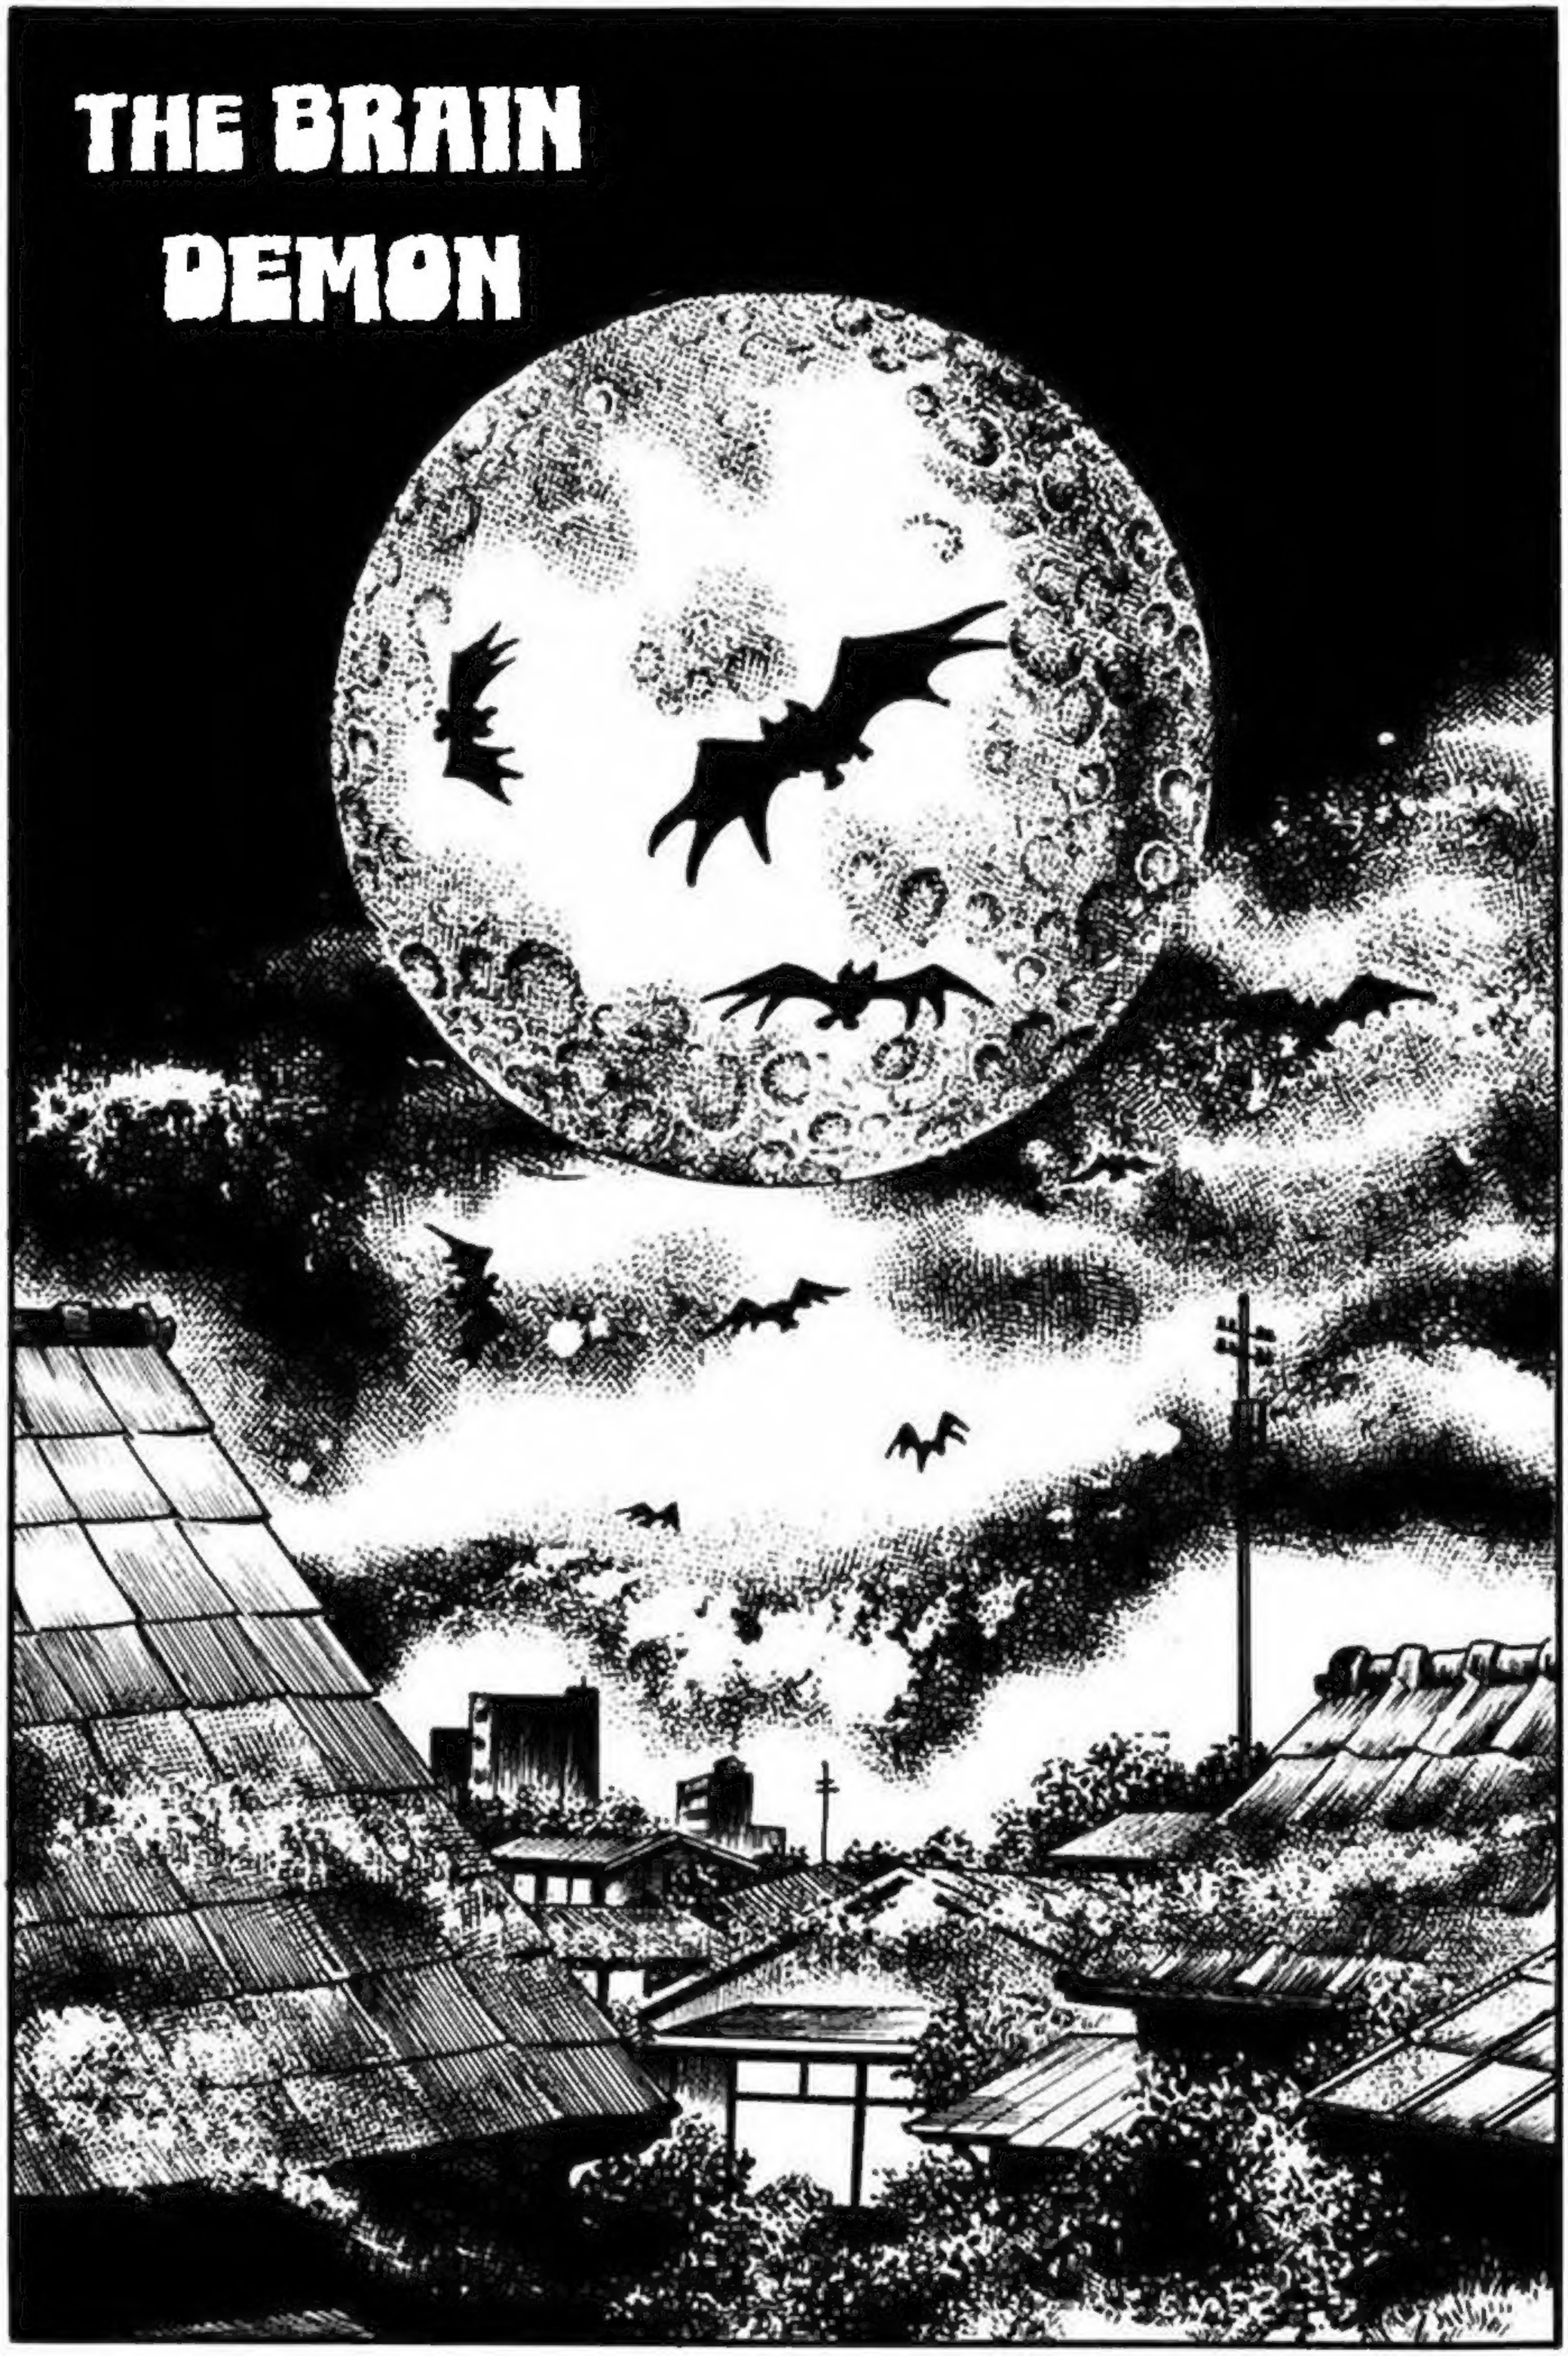
THE BRAIN DEMON



I lay in bed wondering what felt so diffe-rent...

My heart was racing and I couldn't get to sleep.

One summer night when I was still a young boy...

It might have been the full moon that was so bright that night...

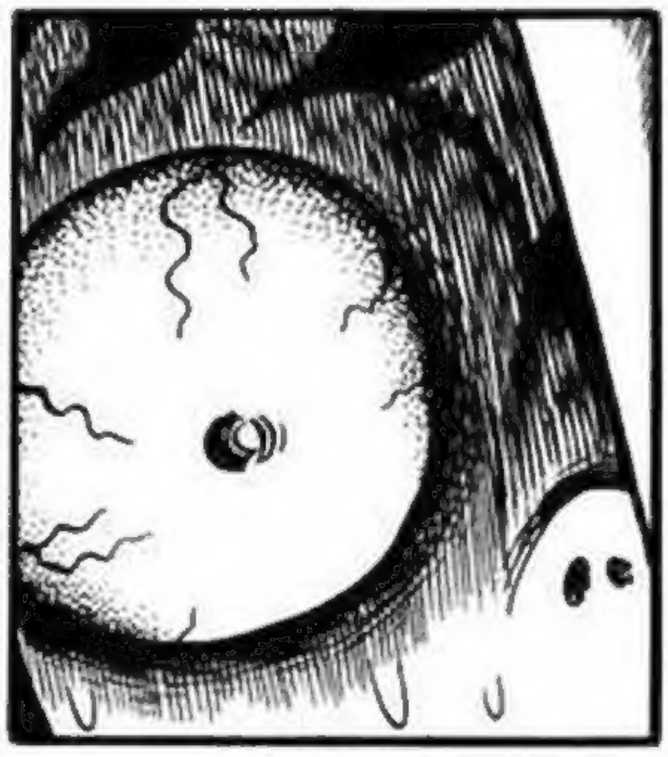
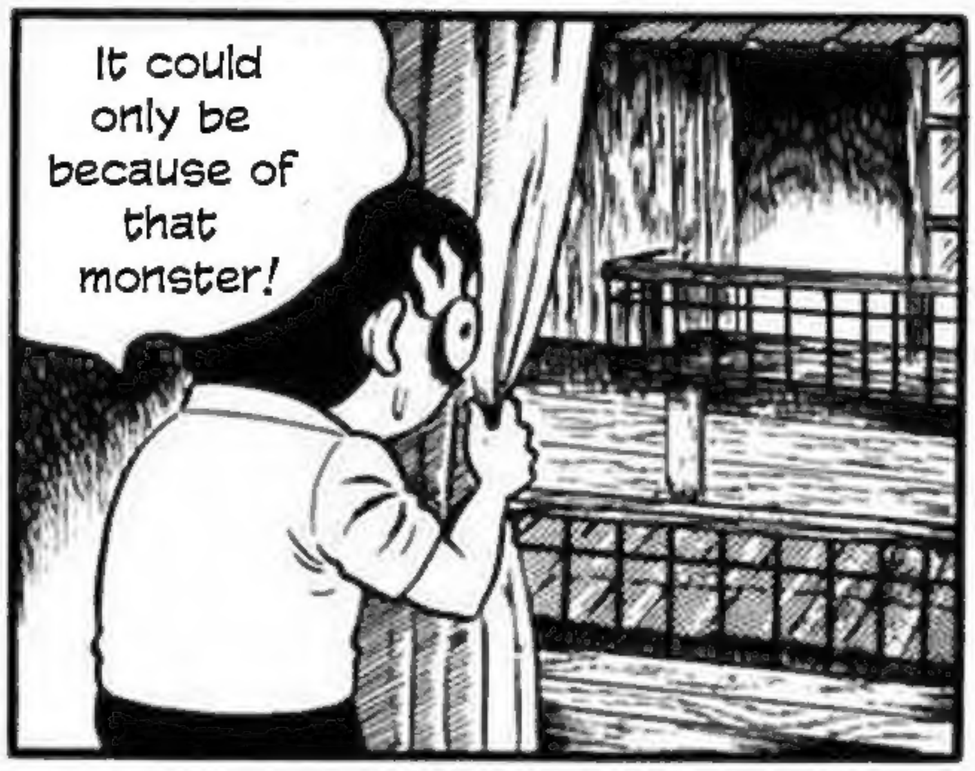
I could only stand there staring silently... Utterly spellbound...

It was a sight so strange and bizarre, it felt like a dream!

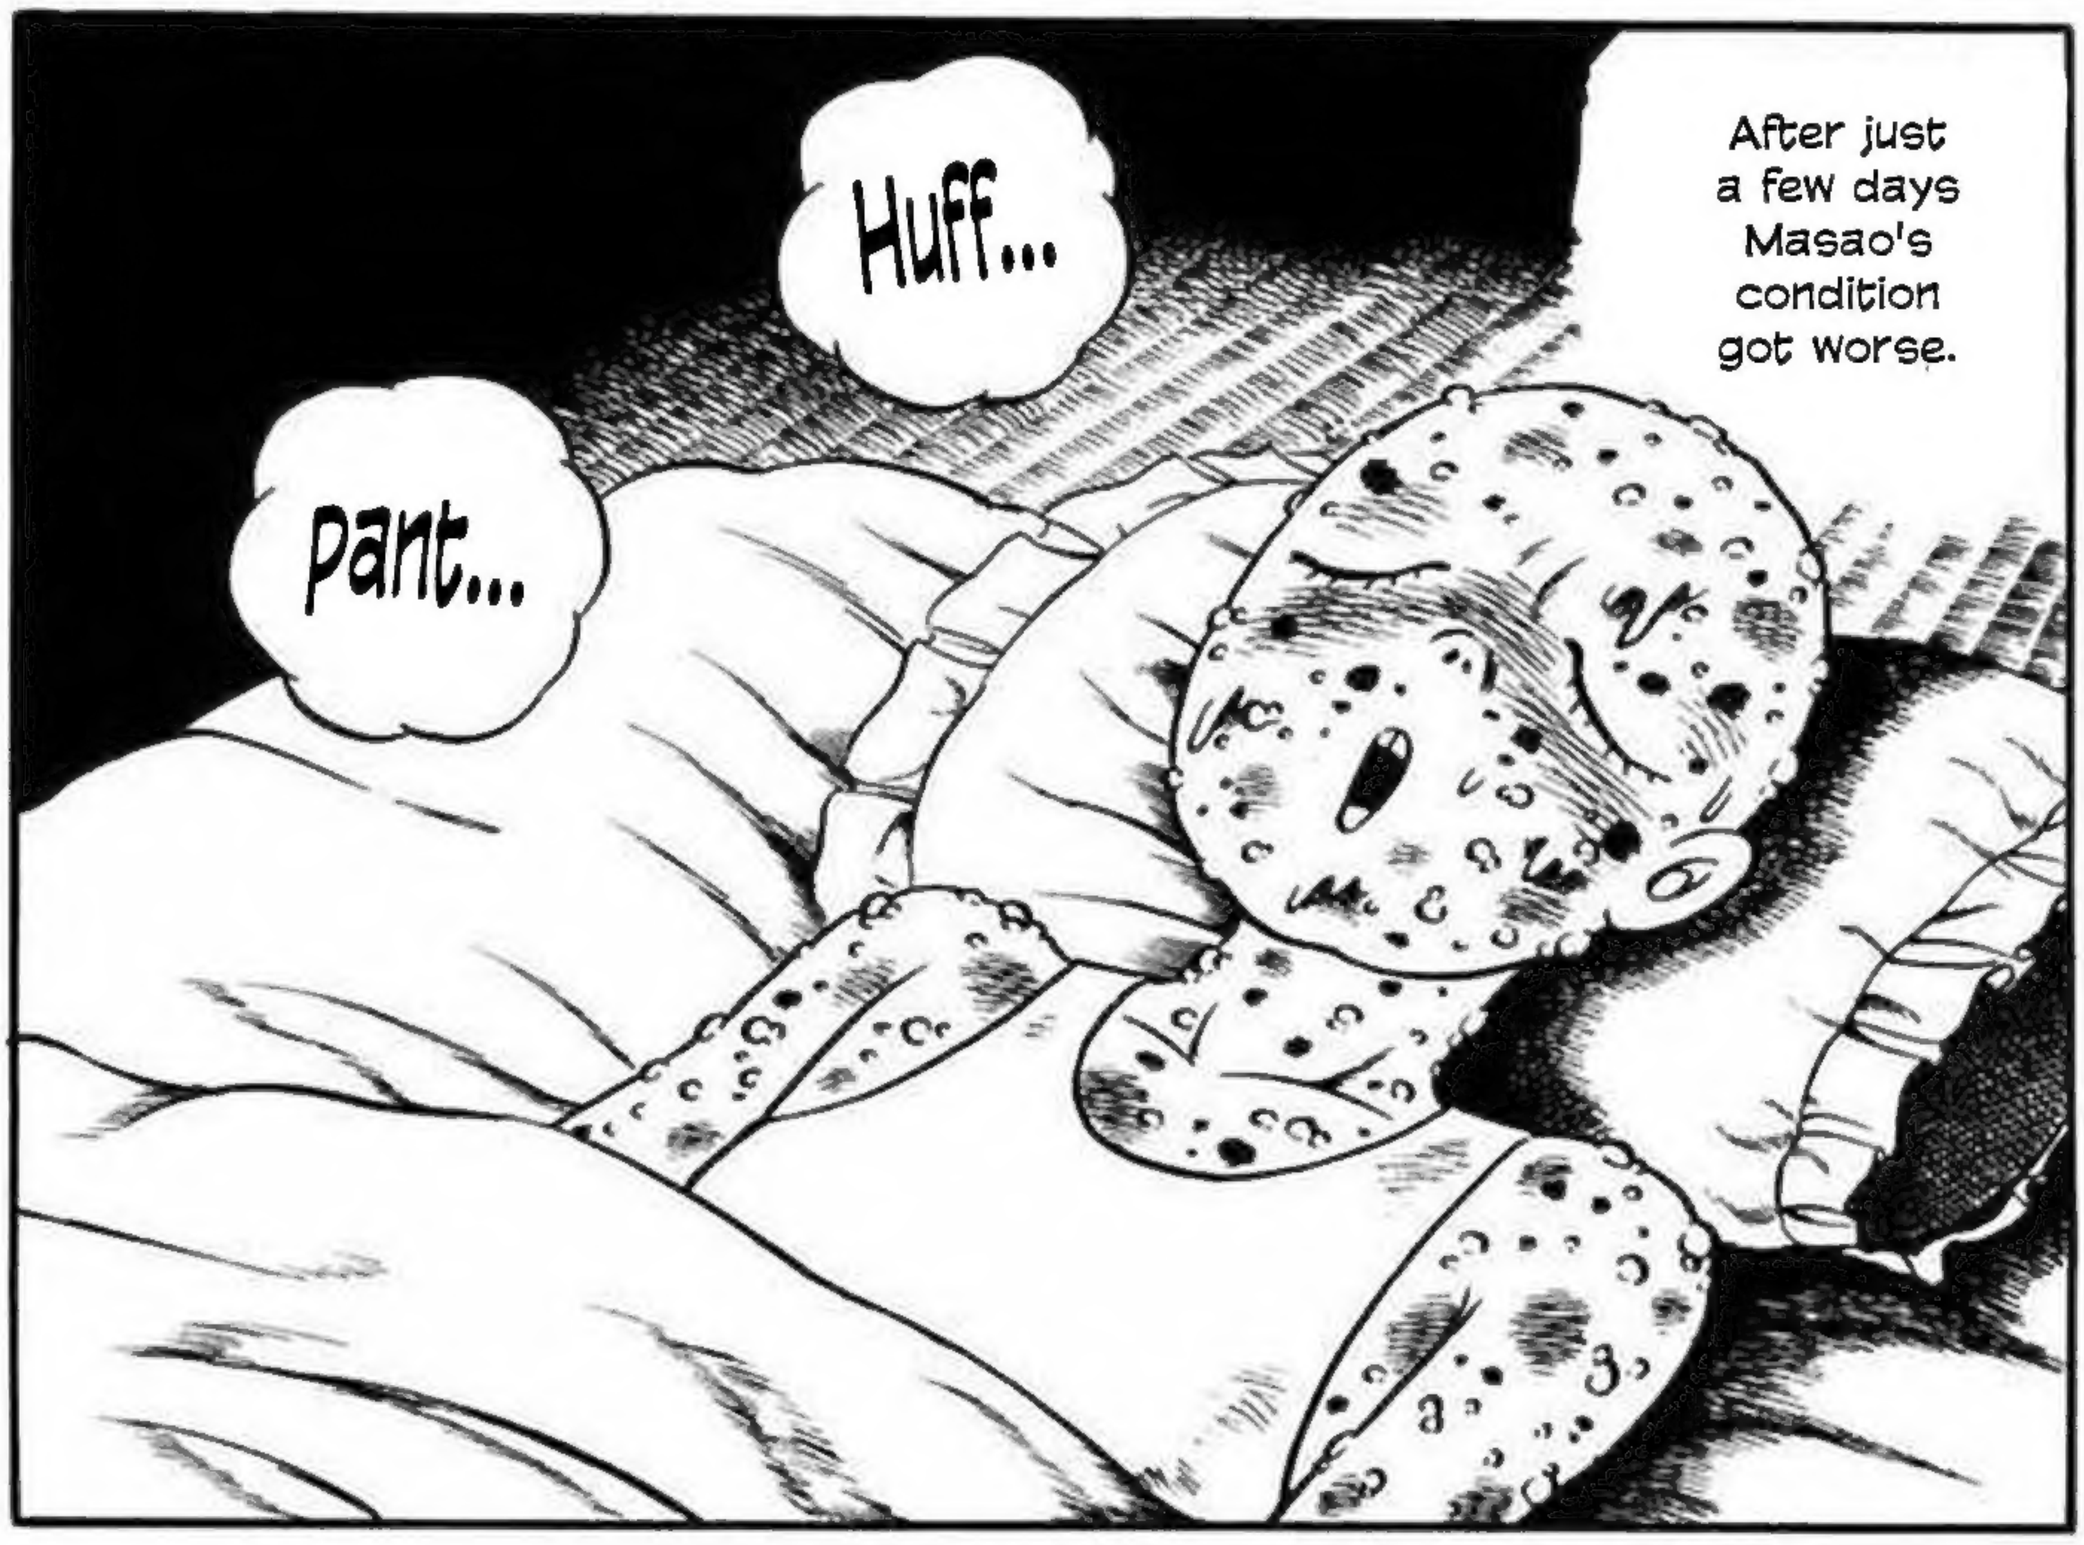




It could only be because of that monster!

But I couldn't bring myself to tell anyone the terrifying scene I had witnessed.

The next morning Masao was burning up with a fever and remained confined to their bed.



Huff...

After just a few days Masao's condition got worse.

Then one night a few days later...

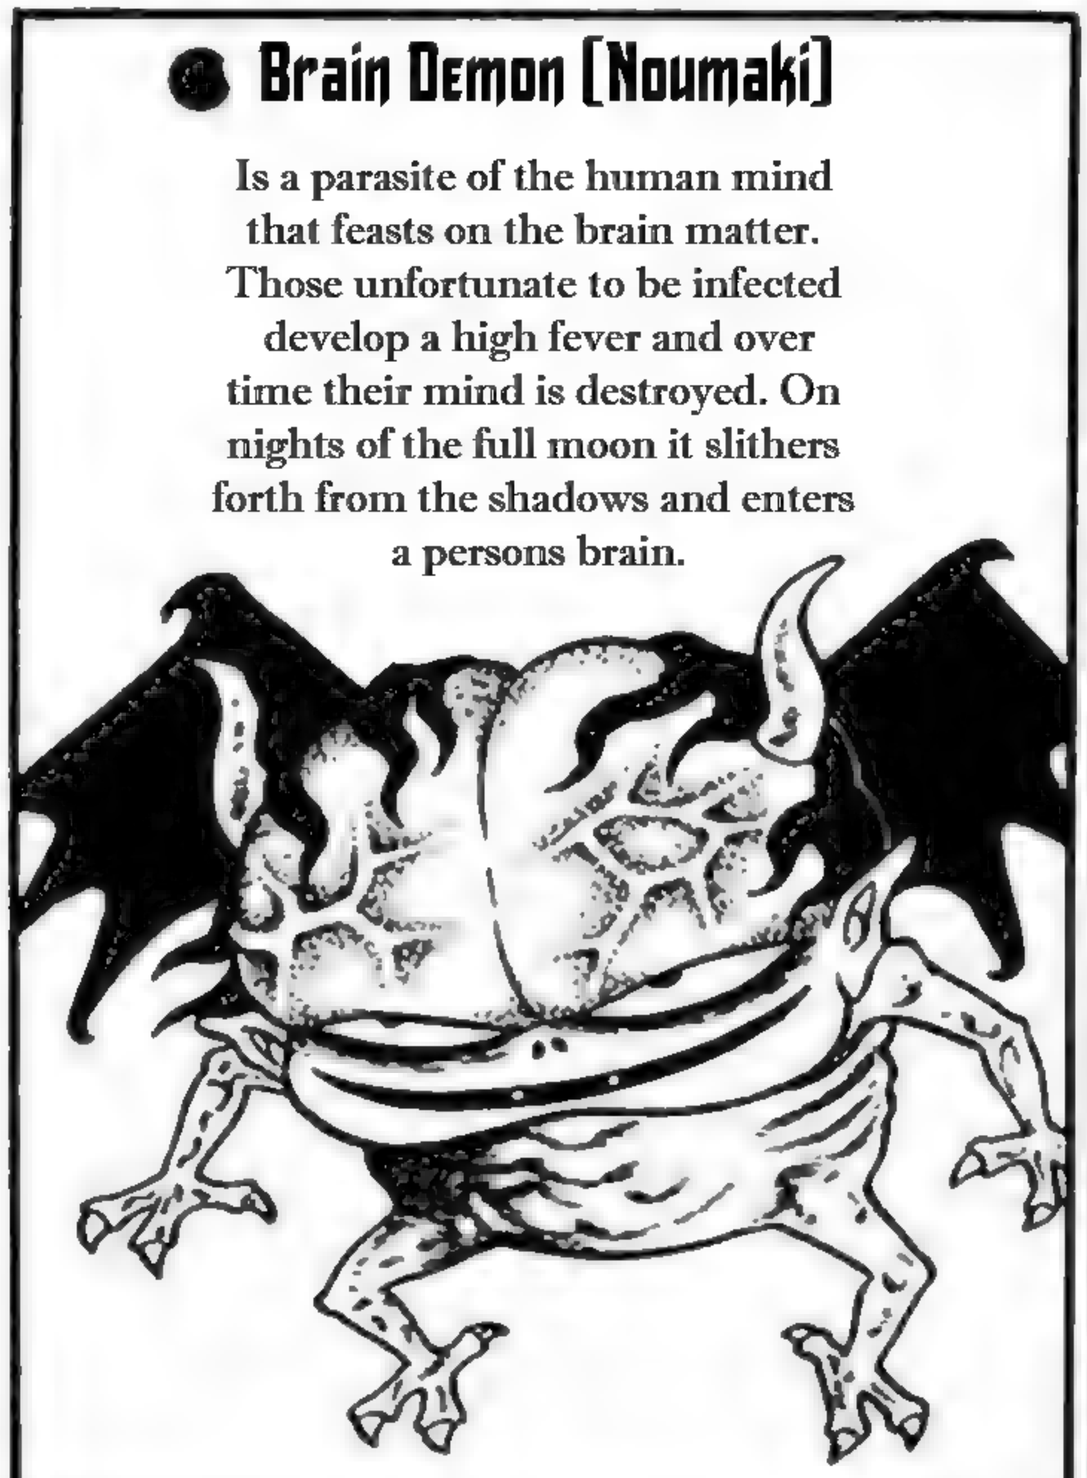
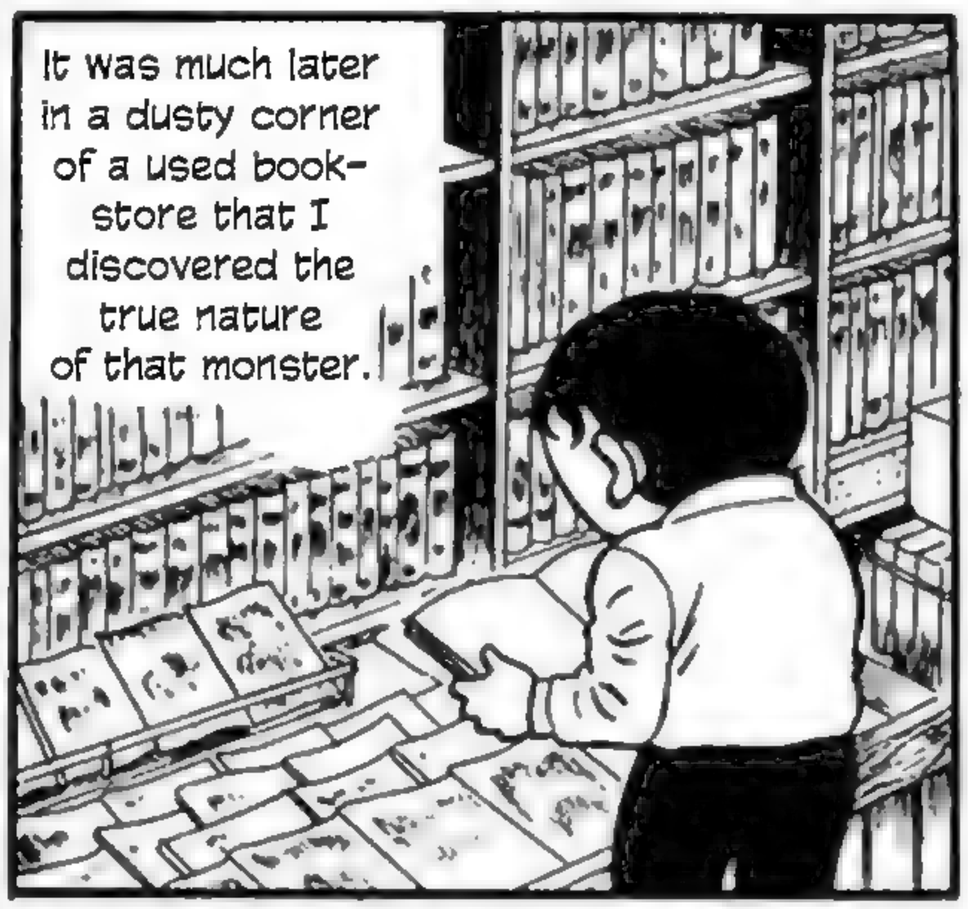
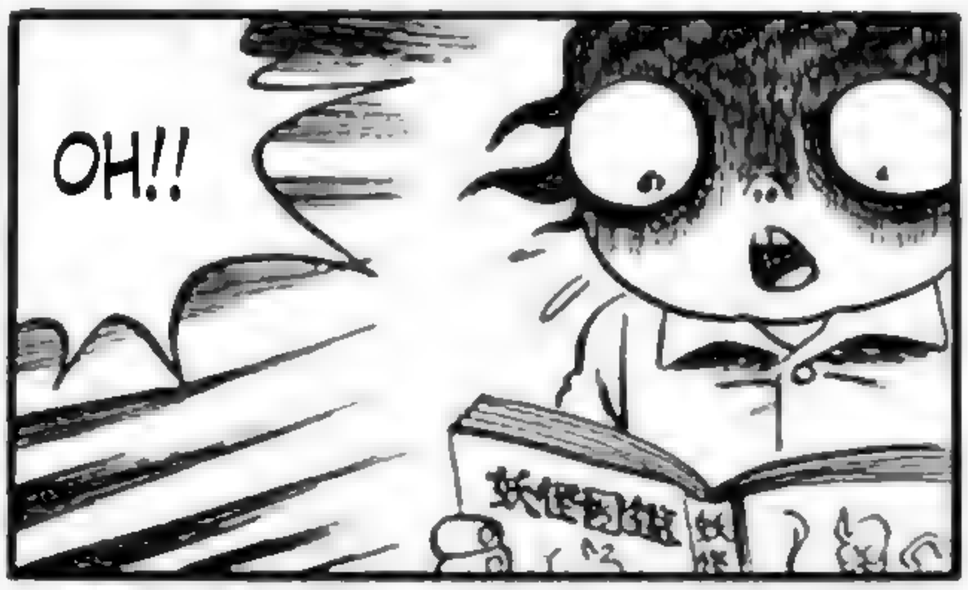
Brain Demon [Noumaki]

Is a parasite of the human mind that feasts on the brain matter. Those unfortunate to be infected develop a high fever and over time their mind is destroyed. On nights of the full moon it slithers forth from the shadows and enters a persons brain.







The Brain demon is out there right now! Eating some poor soul's mind.
And ever since that night I've been overtaken by an overwhelming fear of the full moon.

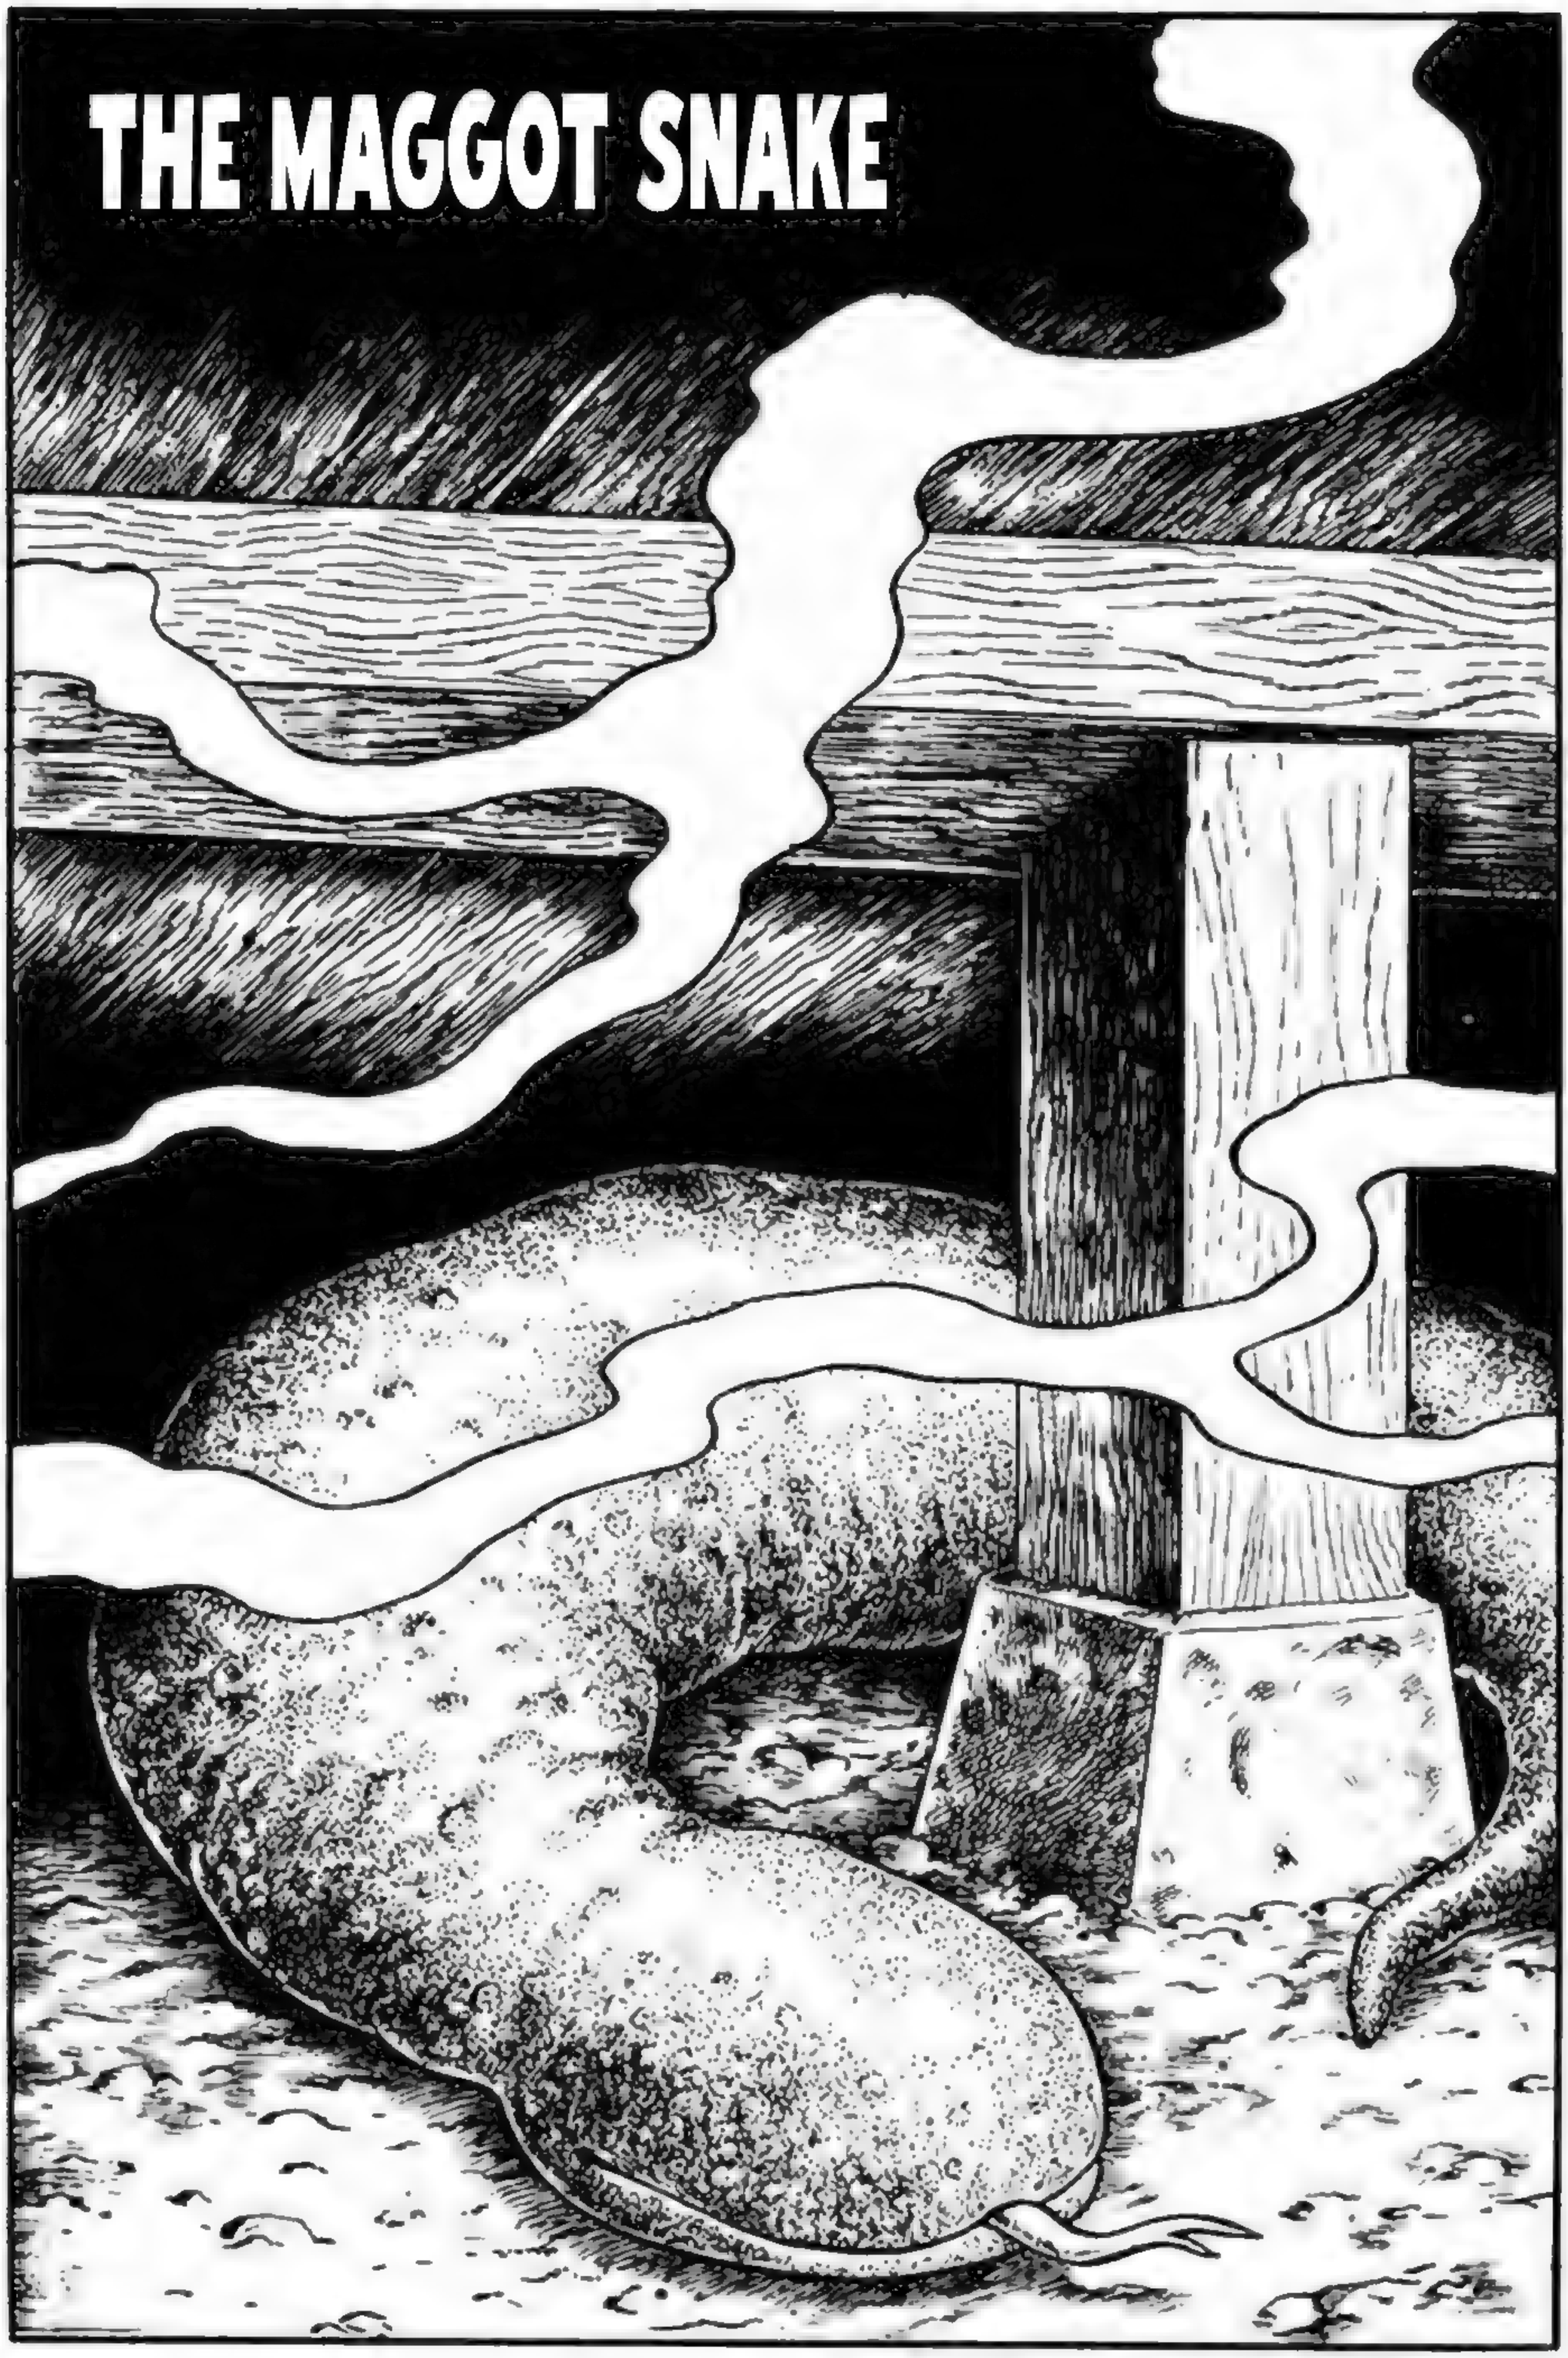
THE MAGGOT SNAKE



This story is from over thirty years ago...A glimpse into my childhood.

One day, I found myself staring at the dead body of a mouse in the backyard.

Ah!!

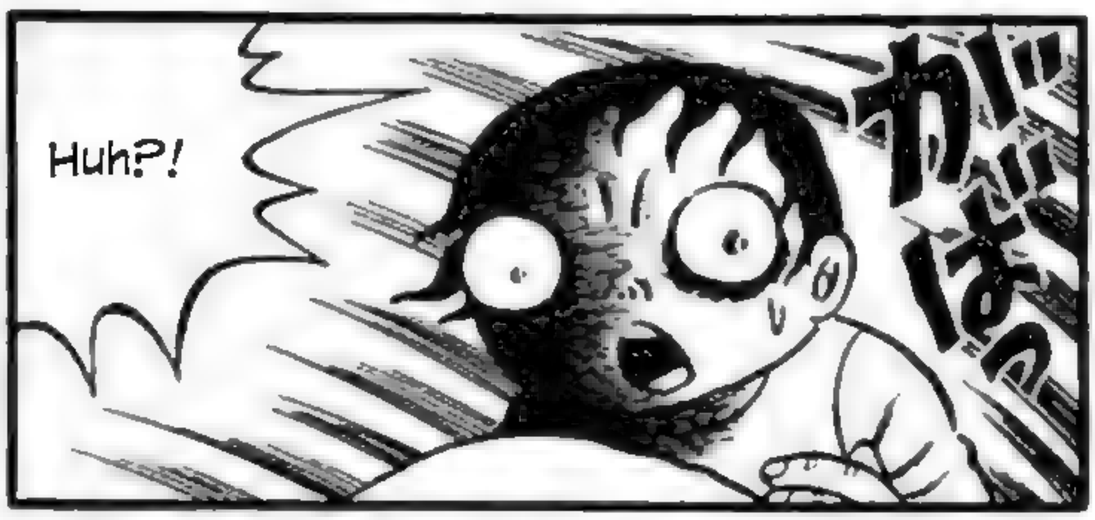
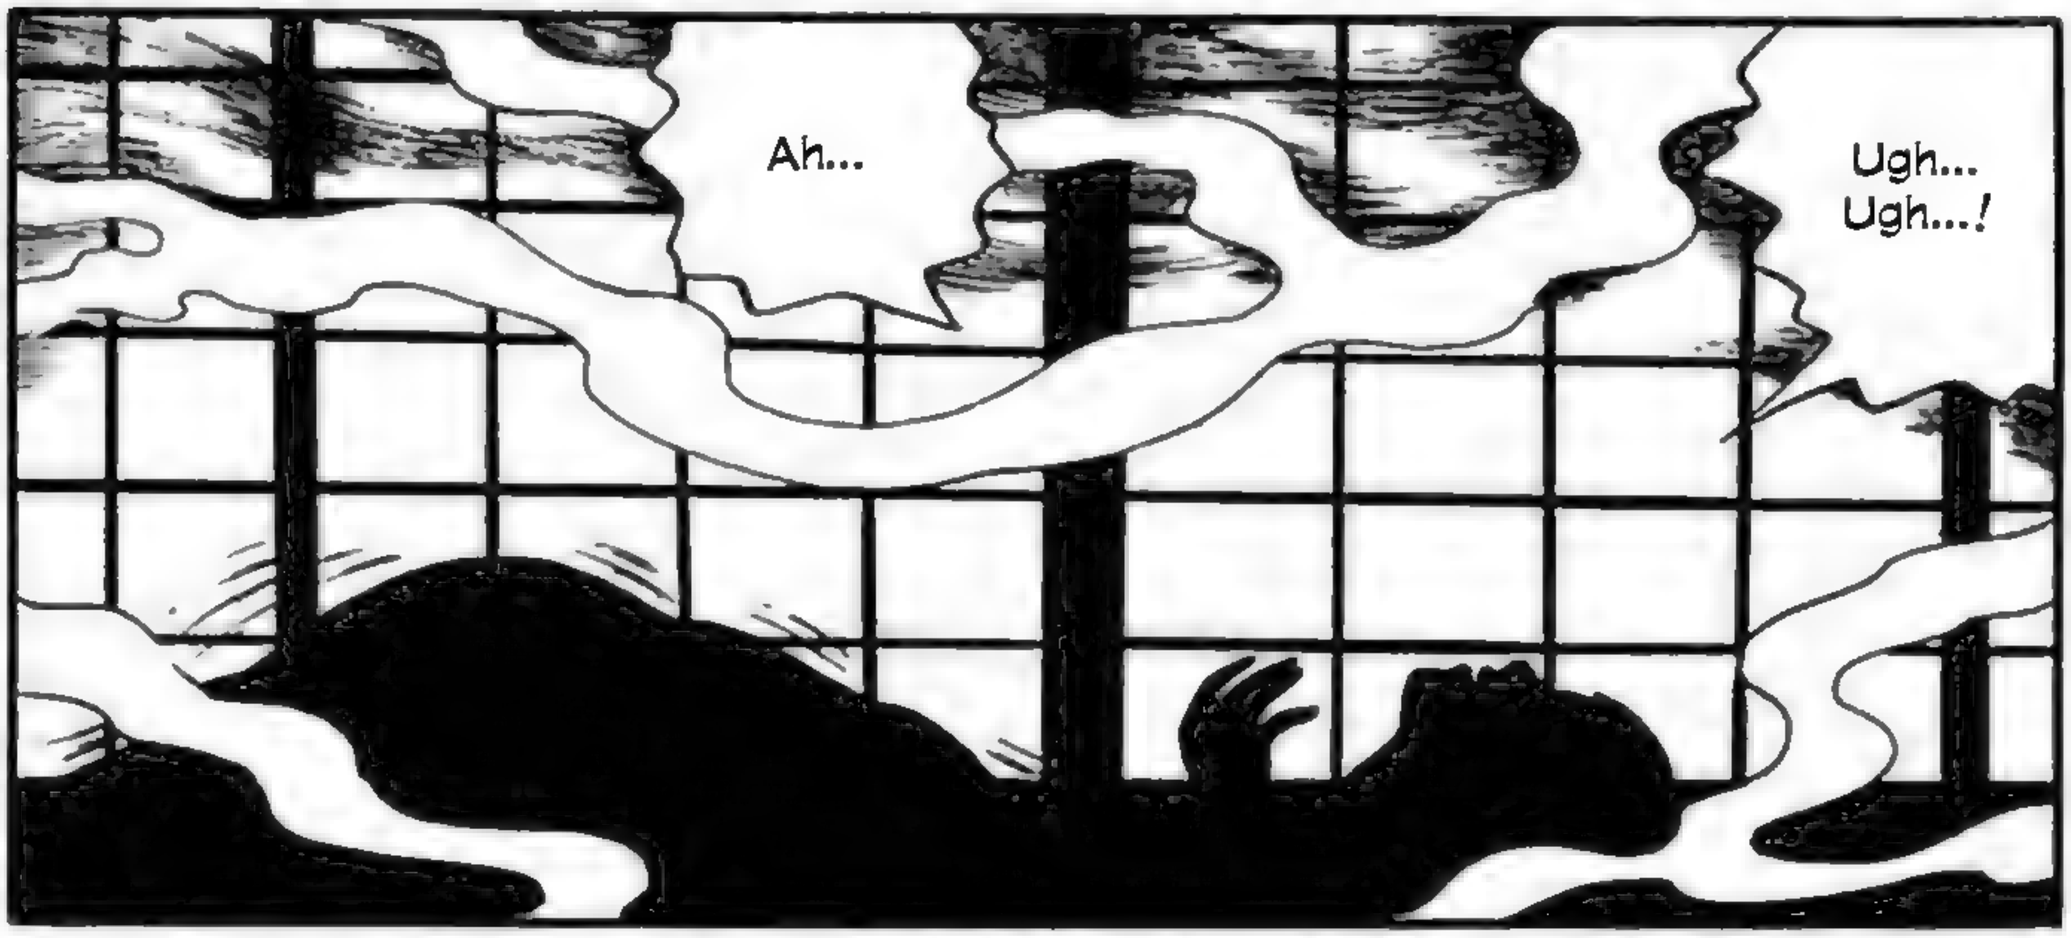
I saw a monster emerge from the shadows under our bathroom and slither under the floor of my sister's room.

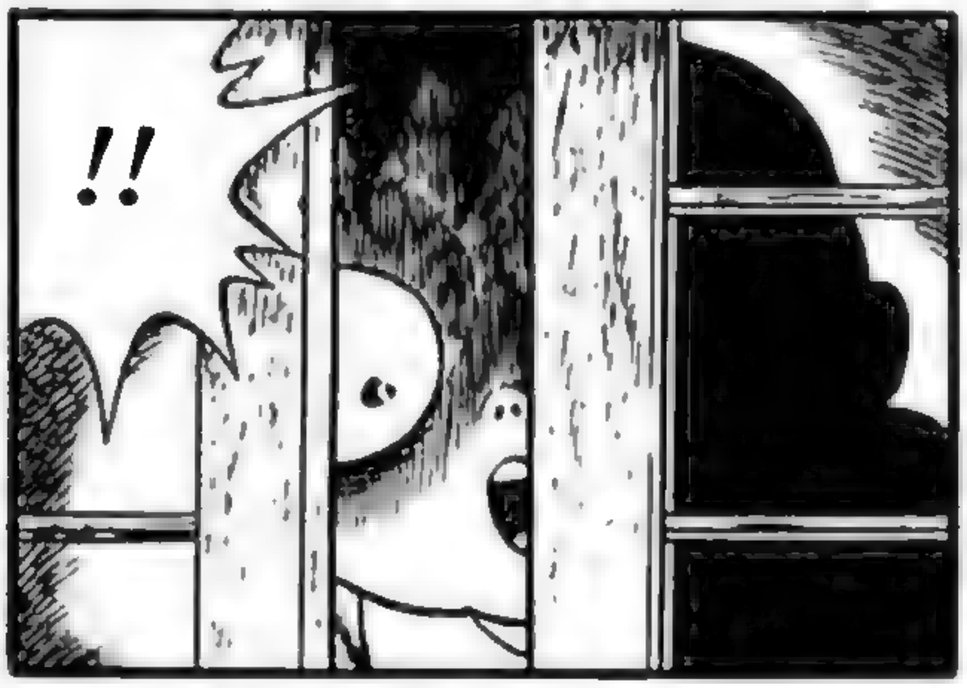
That night marked the start of the terrifying events that would soon unfold.



Huh?!



Ah...
Ugh...
Ugh...!



!!

Ugh...

Chomp!!

Hissss

Oh...!!

Ah... it's that thing!!

Fear gripped me so tightly I hid under my blankets and before I knew it drifted off to sleep.

Oh! My sister!!

But again that night the same terrifying events unfolded...

Phew! What a relief...!

I knew it! It was just a dream...

Oh...

It's that thing again!!

...!!

Ugh...

Shiver shiver

My God!!

Night after night that monster crept into my sister's room where she had been bedridden for so long...

...

My sister grew weaker with every passing day.

Oh, this child!!

What...? What did you say?!

Out of desperation I told my parents about the monster.

You're sister has been sick a long time! Don't tell us such foolish stories!

What a load of nonsense! There's no such thing!!

Oh, you're so trouble-some!

Enough with this!

But...but it's true!

In the end, no one believed me.

Ah!!

One night as I got up to use the bathrooom...

I watched as it slithered back into the shadows.

The horrible creature crawled out from beneath my sister's floor.

Soon after I was sent to visit my grandmother and I told her the tale...

The next day, my sister was gone.

So then...

What?!

Without a doubt it was a maggot snake!!

They say that once it possesses you, you're doomed! There's no escape and you will die!

Indeed my boy... It latches onto those who are bedridden and drains them of their life force...

The very sound of those words "maggot snake" sent icy shivers down my spine. A memory that is still etched into my mind.

...!!

I wonder if it's still lurking under someone's floorboards...

Maggot snake... That horrible creature...
